

EAT, READ, & BE MERRY!
The Culver City Friends of the Library
Edible Book Festival
ccfol.ediblebooks@gmail.com

Get creative. Submit an entry. Here's what you need to know...

1. Select a book title. Picture it - then create it using edible ingredients. Have fun!
2. It's free to submit an edible book, but only one entry per person.
3. There are three age categories: adults, teens 13-18, and kids 12 and under.
4. Pre-registration is advised (and free), as space for submissions may be limited. However, if space permits, walk-in entries will be welcome.
5. To be eligible for prizes, entries must be delivered between 11:30 AM & 12 noon on Sunday, April 3, 2011 to Gyenari at 9540 Culver Boulevard, Culver City.
6. There's a loading zone for entry drop-offs in front of Gyenari but please, don't leave your car unattended (you know what the white zone is for).
7. There's 2-hour free parking in three City parking structures: At Trader Joe's; behind B of A on Cardiff; behind Akasha on Wasatch.
8. Prize winners will be announced at 3:30 PM. Once you've dropped off your entry (11:30-12), enjoy lunch at one of Culver City's great restaurants, browse our book sale or stroll through our downtown then join us at the Festival after 1:00 PM.
9. Adult winners will receive a $50 gift certificate from one of these fabulous Culver City establishments: Akasha, Ford's Filling Station, Gyenari Korean BBQ, Kay'n Dave's, L'Epicerie Market, La Dijonaise, Rush Street, Sprouts Farmers Market, Waterloo & City. Teen prize is a $50 Pitfire Artisan Pizza gift certificate. Kid's prize is an MP3 docking station and $20 Coop Pizza gift certificate.
10. One winner will be selected by the votes of Festival attendees to receive the People's Choice Award - a $100 gift certificate from The New School of Cooking.
11. You don't need to be present at 3:30 PM to win, but why miss out on the cheers?
12. If you want to retrieve your entry, it must be picked up between 4-4:15 PM.

FREE REGISTRATION. (Deadline: March 30, 2011. Please review #4 above)
