National Library Week Celebrate April 12-18, 2009

National Library Week is an annual celebration of the contributions of our nation's libraries and librarians. All types of libraries - school, public, academic and special - participate. National Library Week 2009 will be celebrated with the theme, "Worlds connect @ your library." Below is an American Library Assn press release:

"This week, schools, campuses and communities across the country celebrate National Library Week, a time to remind the public about the contribution libraries, librarians and library workers make to their communities everyday.

In today's economy, libraries offer free resources to help people find jobs and learn new skills. Worlds connect @ your library, with people of all ages and backgrounds finding entertainment, self-help or their place in the community. With free resources like books, magazines, DVDs and computer and wifi access, do better in school, tackle projects and learn new ways to improve their health. What makes the library unique is access to trained professionals - librarians - to help people find and interpret the information they need to make a difference in their lives. Our libraries also help keep us connected, providing a space for people of all ages, classes and races to come together, while keeping us connected to events and people around the world. It's where people can keep up with world events or research where to volunteer locally."

President's Message

Dear Friends,

I recently attended the annual convention of Los Angeles County Friends of the Library groups. The mood is always upbeat and enthusiastic, but there was an underlying current of concern this year as County staffers spoke of budget cuts and belt-tightening in light of the State's economic problems.

But, as Margaret Donnellan Todd, the County Librarian, pointed out, the library has survived economic downturns in the past, including the Great Depression of the 1930s, and it will come through this one too. But maintaining our library is more important now than ever.

Luckily, the Culver City Library has always enjoyed vigorous support by the community, a fact mentioned, with envy, by several people from other Friends groups. Your membership in the Friends is an important part of keeping the library an integral part of Culver City. The CCFOL Board thanks you sincerely and hopes to see you at the many functions we have planned for the rest of 2009.

Sincerely,

Kevin Commins
President -- CCFOL

Book Room Dedication

honoring Wayne Pulliam April 18

The Julian Dixon Library conference room was lined table to table with books March 21, all edible of course. Last minute artists (all under age 13) rushed to get the last gummy worm, animal cracker, pretzel, and candied hearts just in the right spot. After the judging, guests and contestants were allowed to eat their way through each book, much like the very hungry caterpillar did. Thank you again to everyone for making the Edible Book Festival a huge success!

The International Edible Book Festival is held annually around the world. To date, the following countries have held this festival: Australia, Brazil, Canada, England, France, Germany, India, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Morocco, Netherlands, New Zealand, United States of America, Russia. Hong Kong has just announced its participation in 2007.

AWARD RECIPIENTS!

The Friends are extremely grateful for the wonderful contributions that keep our programs and events going! This year, the Friends will be honoring the following individuals and corporate sponsors for their outstanding contributions in 2008:

Story Time and Craft. Details to follow.

For more information about these or any of our activities and events, please look for flyers or check out the display cases in the Library, call 310-559-1676 or visit www.ccfol.org!

County Library Programs:

For more story time fun, remember that the library also offers loads of exciting programs: With WE TELL STORIES, actors unfurl imaginative costumes and props from an old steamer trunk and the fun begins. Audience members participate from their seats, then join actors on stage to play an integral part in the performance. Parents and kids delight in this family activity that is both entertaining, as well as culturally enriching. WE TELL STORIES promises yet another year of fantastic storytelling, literacy & laughter:

April 15 (Wednesday) at 11:00 am: “Pint-Sized Plays” (for ages 3-5) - To commemorate National Library Week

May 2 (Saturday) at 2:00 pm: “Cinco de Mayo” – A special cultural celebration

May 30 (Saturday) at 2:00 pm: “Feast From the East” – To celebrate Asian American Pacific Heritage Month

The DEFINIENS PROJECT will present a series of interactive musical concerts for young school-age children on the 2nd Tuesday evening of the month at 7:00 p.m. from February through May. Each concert will provide a story-based, interactive musical adventure, consisting of a main program, which will be both introduced and followed by a short musical piece performed by the musicians.

These performances are made possible in part by a grant from the City of Culver City Performing Arts Grant Program Fund with support from Sony Pictures Entertainment.

For more information about these and other County Library programs offered pick up a flyer or talk to one of the friendly and knowledgeable staff members at the Culver City Julian Dixon Library.
